Unable to Work!
NO APPETITE!
COULD NOT SLEEP!
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
COMPLETELY CURED HIM.

Mr. T. J. Clune, of Walkerville, Adelaide, South Australia, writes:

"Six years ago, I had an attack of Indigestion and Liver Complaint that lasted for weeks; I was unable to do any hard work, had no appetite, food distressed me, and I suffered much from headache. My skin was sallow and sleep did not refresh me. I tried several remedies and consulted a doctor, without obtaining any relief; finally, one of my customers recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It helped me from the first,—in fact, after taking six bottles I was completely cured, and could eat anything and sleep like a child."

COMPANY D CALLED DOWN

ACTION OF THE PREVIOUS MEETING RESCINDED.

Colonel McLean and Major Jones Lay Down the Law and Say Soldiers Must Obey Orders.

The special meeting of Company D, National Guard of Hawaii, held at the drill shed last night, was attended by most of the members of that organization. A resolution was adopted which rescinded in every way the previous action of the company in refusing to sanction or warrant the overtures made to Captain Wall of the Sharpshooters by certain regimental officers. Colonel McLean and Major J. W. Jones addressed the meeting and both expressed their indignation that such a course should have been pursued by Company D. Colonel McLean spoke of the way in which he had been treated by the Sharpshooters company and how he had been forced to leave their meeting and that it was peculiarly hard to find out that Company D also repudiated his action which he thought was for the best interests of that company. He said that it was not for true soldiers to criticize but to submit in all things to the orders of their superior officers and that any such action as had been taken by Company D in regard to calling the regimental officers to account for any of their actions would subject those who supported such action to a court martial. While he was in command of the regiment he would permit no trifling. He was dealing with men not boys and he hoped nothing of the kind would ever happen again.

OVIDE MUSIN'S TOUR.

Charitable Concert at the Monowai for the Lepers.

Among the list of passengers by the steamship Monowai were Mons. Ovide Musin, his wife and Edward Scharf. On the last night before reaching port Mons. Musin was requested to give a concert which he willingly acceded to, providing the proceeds were given to some worthy Hawaiian charity. It was at once decided to donate the money to the leper settlement on Molokai. In less than an hour a subscription concert was arranged which proved to be a grand artistic and financial success, as the tidy little sum of $100 was netted. Several of the passengers assisted in an amateur way and very creditably.

For more than twenty years Musin has been before the public, and his musical genius has made his name a household word throughout Christendom. Annie Louise Musin is also famous all over the world. In the "Bird Merchant" her range of voice is from G below the scale to E above high C. Mr. Scharf has the distinction of having received the great Moscheles prize as solo pianist at the Leipzig Conservatory of Music at the Gewandhaus musical festival. Both the European and American press accord him the highest praise as one of the finest performers on the piano now before the public.

Features of The Time.

The women's edition of The Time will be out this afternoon. It will have departments for religion, philanthropy, art, education, society, children, girls and men and boys. There will also be original poems and stories and an article by Kate Field. One very interesting article is that which relates to the cost of living in Honolulu. This will include a market list and some excellent recipes for the preparation of Hawaiian dishes.

The illustrations are by Mrs. Isabel Strong and are quite the best ever seen in a Honolulu publication. The advertising space in the paper is entirely taken up. In connection with this there is a very cheerful write-up of the excursion to Waianae which makes this particular advertisement worth reading.

The paper will be on sale this afternoon, and the regular issue of The Time will appear on Tuesday.

Christmas at Central Union.

The celebration of Christmas at the Central Union Church will begin on Sunday the 22d. The Sunday School service will be held in the church at 9:45 a. m. The classes will march in singing a processional hymn and take the seats reserved for them. Carols will be sung, and a short address by the minister will be followed by Scripture readings by the classes and a brief exercise by the Primary department. On Wednesday, Christmas day, a service will be held in the church at 11 a. m. to which the public is cordially invited. Special music will be rendered by the choir and a sermon appropriate to the day will be preached by Birnie. In the evening the usual prayer meeting will be held. On Friday the annual festival will be given to the scholars of the Sunday school.

Night School.

As has been intimated previously the Board of Education is going to open a night school on the sixth of January. It will be conducted in the Fort street school house by J. Lightfoot, vice-principal of the High School. The school will be kept every night except Saturday and Sunday from 7 to 9 o'clock. It is intended for the youth of the city who either have had no educational advantages or have not availed themselves of such advantages. Tuition will be free and the only condition to be exacted of pupils is attention to business.

Minister Hatch Received.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—William R. Castle today presented to the President his letter of recall as Hawaiian Minister to the United States, and Mr. Francis M. Hatch, his successor, was formally introduced to President Cleveland. The ceremony which was very simple, took place in the Blue room of the White House. Mr. Castle and Mr. Hatch were accompanied by Secretary Olney.

Monday's performance of Wirth's circus will be given for the benefit of the lepers on Molokai. Every artist belonging to the troupe has cheerfully donated his or her talent for that evening to the unfortunates.

TO BE A GREAT PAPER.

THE CHRISTMAS EDITION OF THE BULLETIN.

It Will be Handsomely Bound and Illustrated With Over Fifty Half-Tone Engravings.

It was the intention of those in charge of the EVENING BULLETIN to have issued today a mammoth Christmas edition of the paper, the material for which has been in course of preparation for two months past. Manager Finney has had the whole charge of this edition and has devoted his whole time thereto for several weeks past. Unfortunately his recent illness has delayed the publication of the paper, but it is hoped the delay will be only for a few days and that it will be ready for distribution about January 1st.

The forthcoming Christmas edition of the BULLETIN will be on a scale never before attempted in Honolulu, and no one unacquainted with the business of getting out a newspaper can form any estimate of the editorial and mechanical labor required in its production. A partial description of the paper and a recapitulation of some of its principal features is here given in order that the public may form some idea of the magnitude of the work undertaken by the BULLETIN management.

In the first place the paper will contain twenty-eight five-column pages equivalent to 140 columns of reading matter, which in this edition will be in type known as brevier and much smaller than the type used in the daily edition. No paper heretofore issued in Honolulu has ever contained anything like the quantity of reading matter to be found in this Christmas edition, which will be printed with extra care on splendid book paper. The reading matter will be appropriately and beautifully illustrated with over fifty half-tone engravings, every one of which has been made especially from photographs and original drawings for this edition. They comprise illustrations of public and private buildings, sugar and coffee plantations, scenic wonders, portraits of prominent people and other interesting subjects.

The edition is to be handsomely covered and bound. The cover has been specially designed for the purpose and will be of extra heavy paper, printed in three colors. The design for the title page is both novel and beautiful and it will be wholly engraved. In the center of it an original Christmas poem by Mrs. B. F. Dillingham will be found, which in beauty of thought and expression exceeds anything from that lady's pen in the opinion of competent judges. The edition throughout will be a work of art as far as the printer, engraver and bookbinder can make it.

With so much of labor and expense expended on the Christmas edition of the BULLETIN it may naturally be expected that the reading matter contained therein will be of a more than usually high standard and this the management can readily guarantee, for the best writers on the islands contribute to its pages. The variety of subjects treated and the high standing of the contributors will render this edition additionally valuable for future reference. The only subject treated editorially will be a review of the past year by Daniel Logan, which has been carefully and exhaustively prepared.

Art and Art Matters in Hawaii is the subject of a well-written essay by Philip Dodge, which will be especially illustrated from drawings furnished by D. H. Hitchcock, while Professor Lyman contributes an able article on Diamond Head and the formation of coral reefs, which was recently read at the University of California. J. B. Daniels contributes an article on the coffee industry of Hawaii, which will be illustrated with views of growing coffee, mills, etc. The statistics given in this article will be valuable for future reference.

One of the principal literary attractions of the Christmas BULLETIN will undoubtedly be an original Christmas story by Ralph Turner, the plot of which is laid on the island of Maui, the characters and scenery being true to nature and the locality. The story is written in Mr. Turner's best vein and is sure to be read with avidity. The same author also contributes an original poem. The educational interests of Honolulu are written up by an able contributor, as are also the pine apple industry and the new cannery.

Much space is devoted to the island of Hawaii and many columns from the ablest writers on that island will appear on the sugar and other industries of that island. Miss Josephine Deye, principal of the Hilo school, furnishes an excellent and interesting article on Hilo schools among the number.

The Protestant Churches in Hawaii will be the subject of a valuable article from the pen of Rev. S. E. Bishop, while George Manson has written up the history of the Catholic Missions from their establishment here. Mr. Manson also writes a history of the fraternal societies established in the islands, containing much of interest concerning the early history of many of the lodges of the different orders which flourish here.

Wray Taylor contributes an entertaining article on Music in Honolulu, Secretary Corbett of the Young Men's Christian Association one on Athletics and Hon. Joseph Marsden treats of the efficacy of the ladybug as the true remedy for the blight and other insect pests, giving the results of recent observations and experiments.

The above do not by any means comprise all the contributors to the special edition, but have been specially mentioned to give the public a general idea of its contents. Among many other contributors Mrs. W. F. Frear furnishes an original poem, entitled, "The Lullaby," which is accompanied by a handsome engraving of the Madonna and Child, but space will not permit a further recapitulation of the numerous interesting articles to be found within the covers of this handsome edition. It will be sufficient to say that all the principal industries of the country are written up, together with numerous sketches of business houses and prominent citizens.

With a paper of the magnitude of the Christmas edition of the BULLETIN it follows that the large amount of type used cannot be kept standing and that only one edition can be printed. In printing an edition of five thousand copies, it is hoped to supply all who may wish for additional copies to send abroad. Certainly no paper ever printed here can give friends abroad such an adequate conception of conditions existing in Hawaii as this, and as a work of art it will show that Honolulu is not behind any of the great cities of the United States. Much of this large edition of five thousand has already been bespoken, and orders for extra copies will hereafter be received at the business office, 609 King street, where they will be duly entered and filled in their order.

On the day that this extra edition is ready each subscriber will be served by carrier as usual with one copy, but no regular edition will be issued on that day, as the
